

A Dreary Day

Shivering cold and blustery winds
Darkened days filled with sooty clouds Cold drops soaking my shoulders
Grim thoughts and a big pout
Looking high the sunlight catches
A few white sheep in utter brilliance
Then I laugh and I grin every once in awhile wherever I look I see your smile

5/2/2007

copyright William J. Moore